SIMILAR TO FRANKS CASE

Youth Not Seen Since Leaving
Home Tuesday

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — Altho romantic tales of ravel visions of strange lands and tornaswept seas may have taken Franklin Roshek, 14 year old son of wealth from his parents' luxurious apartment in uptown New York, police today are pointing to the grave similarity between the boy's continued absence and the disappearance of Bobby Franks.

It was a young hunchback hobo of obscure address, a street corner acquaintance who built visions in Franklin's mind, took him to the foot of Riverside drive, pointed to the ships at anchor in the river and told him of playgrounds around the world open to the sea farer.

OFF TO SCHOOL
This much has been learned from Michael Levy, 11, a chum who has told of Franklin's acquaintance with the hunchback.
His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roshek, have been distracted since Tuesday when the boy left for school and did not return in the evening.

Only last Sunday, Franklin had a birthday and having expressed an interest in ac-tomy he was given a telescope that could hardly have cost less than $350. He has an expensive radio set, scores of books and in his room is a catcher's mask and "big league" glove and all sorts of playthings that "hunchback calls Franklin's newly found

Passageways Dug Under

ADMITTED BY SCIENTIST

Finds Cave Digging Entertaining, He Explains

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The "baffling mystery" of the labyrinth of underground passageways discovered in an exclusive residential section of the capital, a neighborhood of embassies and costly mansions, has been solved. Harrison G.
Dyar, a quiet and unassuming individual employed as an entomologist in the Smithsonian institution, put an end to feverish speculations that ran the gamut from German spies to bootleggers, conspirators or what not, when he told a newspaper reporter he dug the passageways for recreation after office hours.

DIGGING HIS HOBBY
"Digging tunnels after work is my hobby; there's really no mystery about it," Dyar was quoted as saying when he rather reluctantly told the story to quiet the agitations of the imaginative which have been filling the local press ever since the wheels of a motor truck sank thru a crust of earth and revealed the tunnels.

The scientist explained that he

Prominent Cincinnati Woman Shot to Death and Daughter Wounded by Intruder—Son-In-Law
Of Victim Sought by Police

CINCINNATI — (By Associated Press) — Mrs. Francis D. Rawson, 77, wealthy widow of Warren Rawson, nationally known pork packer and prominent in society, was shot and killed in her palatial home here last night.

The police immediately started a search for her son-in-law, Vinton Perin, 50, flour miller, who ran from the house after the shooting and disappeared.
Miss Nina Rawson, daughter of the dead woman, was shot twice but not seriously injured. Her sister Josephine escaped by fleeing from the house.

HUSBAND NERVOUS

Mrs. Debora Perin, wife of the missing man and daughter of the dead woman, said her husband left their home in the evening with a handbag and overcoat intending to visit Indianapolis where he had started a flour mill. She said her husband was extremely nervous because of his need of financial assistance in making the Indianapolis business venture a success.

As he opened the door he met his son, Vinton, Jr., to whom he said:

"You'll never see me again.
I'm going to Indianapolis."

With these remarks he left the house with his handbag and overcoat. Mrs. Perin told the police

MYSTERY DEATH PROBED

Man Is Slain In Woods Near Lewistown, Pa.

LEWISTOWN, Pa. — (By Associated Press) — Questioning of E. E. Davis, chief deputy warden of the Rockview penitentiary, and Harry M. McCoy, of Altoona, was expected by the authorities today to throw light on the mystery surrounding the death of an unidentified man who was shot and killed yesterday in a woods near here.
Davis and McCoy were lying near the body in a stupor and twenty-four empty hay run bottles were scattered about a campfire the men had lighted. Neither Davis nor McCoy had sufficiently recovered their senses early today, the police said, to give an account of the affair.

Davis was in charge of a detachment of penitentiary guards who are here searching for Harry Brubaker, an escaped convict from Rockview.

Fred B. Healy, another deputy warden of the Rockview prison, arrived here today to assist the

Missing Boy Linked With Slaying Of Chump

CANTON — (By Associated Press) — Glenn Coldren, 16 year old high school student, who is sought in connection with the discovery Thursday night of the body of his chum Lee Kocher, 15, in the basement of the Coldren home, bought a motorcycle here several hours after Kocher is believed to have been killed, detectives learned today.

MACHINE BOUGHT
Kocher, who was killed by a bullet from a revolver, is believed to have died about 8 o'- clock. At noon Thursday both boys had inquired at a motorcycle dealer's about the purchase of a machine. They left at about 4:30. Coldren returned alone and finally purchased a second hand motorcycle shortly before 6 o'clock. He paid $125 for the machine, leaving him, po-from a bank Wednesday.

Authorities plan to use the

"STOP" CODE IS VIOLATED

Second Charge Against Chief Dismissed, However

FINE AND COSTS LEVIED

Head Of Police Department On Trial Friday

"Guilty" was Judge Neal R.
Poling's finding in Criminal court Friday afternoon in the case of Chief of Police T. A. Lanker versus the city, in which Lanker was charged with violating the city
"Stop" ordinance by ignoring the sign on Central-av at High-st.
The court assessed the usual fine of $1 and costs, a total of $4.90, which the chief paid.

The court found Lanker not guilty on the second charge, that he turned his automobile around in the middle of the block in a congested district. Judge Poling ruled that Central Fire department is not located in the built-up portion of the city, and therefore is not in a congested district.

CITY REPRESENTED
City Solicitor Paul T. Landis prosecuted the case for the city, and it was thru his questioning that the chief's guilt was established. Both charges were sworn to and the affidavits calling for Lanker's arrest were signed by Frank A. Hitchcock, deputy electrical inspector.

Fireman Frank Kinzer, who was alleged to have seen Chief Lanker run over the stop sign on Centralav, took the stand and testified that altho he did not actually see Lanker commit the violation, he was standing with Floyd Matthews, another fireman, at the corner of Central-av and High-st, and heard Matthews call to the chief when he missed the sign.

When Matthews called, Kinzer

FIGHT BEGUN TO SAVE OHIO BOY

Plea Based On Sentence Of Leopold And Loeb

TO DIE IN CHAIR OCT. 17

Convicted Of Murdering Girl At Akron

COLUMBUS — (By United Press) — Another 19-year-old boy awaiting execution for murder today looked to Judge Cawley's sentence in the Leopold-Loeb case as a precedent on which to escape the electric chair.

Governor Donahay, interesting himself in the case of Alexander Kuczki for the first time, announced that he would confer with Kuczki's attorneys on September 27.

Armed with an alternate affidavit that although Alexander is 19 years old his mind is that of a ten year old, counsel for the youth expect to make a strong plea that the death sentence be commuted to life.

LOVED GIRL
Alexander is under sentence to the electric chair October 17, for the slaying of his 13 year old cousin, Elizabeth Nagy at Akron last November.

"They shouldn't kill me for this," the boy, haggard from weeks in the "death annex" at Ohio penitentiary, said today. "I didn't know what I was doing. I loved Elizabeth. She came into the room where I was working as a hammer and I asked her to marry me. She said 'Oh, Alex, don't be such a bonehead,' and then everything went black. The next I knew she was on the floor there in front of me and I guess she was dead. They say I beat her with the hammer but I didn't know it, honest I didn't."

Numerous letters have accumulated at the governor's office here from residents asking him to show the boy mercy in view of the fact that he came from a poor Hungarian family and didn't have a chance.

Among the exhibits which are to be presented to Donahay in the boy's behalf is a physician's report declaring that Alexander's crime was probably a result of his highly nervous condition and that one member of his family drank himself to death and another died of brain tumor.

Young Kuczki is an orphan.

The passageways, on which he worked for a period of about ten years, were now nearly ten years old, he said, having been constructed on property he owned in the rear of a house from which he has since moved.

Dyar had no explanation for the presence in the tunnels of German newspapers which bore dates in 1917, after his disposal of the property and which gave the chief impetus to the German spy story.

LANCKER GUILTY, COURT SAYS

said he turned, and saw the chief driving down High-st. Matthews told him the chief had ignored the stop, Kinzer said.

Matthews had been ordered to appear in court as a witness, but failed to show up when court was called.

Lanker told the court that he had entered his plea of not guilty to violating the "Stop" ordinance because he failed to remember driving his machine on Central-ay at noon on Saturday, Sept. 26. He also said he did not remember turning around in the drive at Central Five Department, but maintained that even tho he had done so he would not have transgressed the traffic law which applies only to congested districts.

LANCKER GUILTY

The court held Lanker guilty of the first charge, but maintained that it was perfectly proper for the anyone else to turn their machine around using the first department drive, unless Fire Chief John Mark should see fit to deny them that privilege.

Lanker's arrest followed his refusal to excuse Frank Hitchcock, deputy electrical inspector, from appearing in court on a charge of turning over a "motor" sign on N. Metcalf-st. Hitchcock, who had been in Lima only a few weeks, told the Chief he had misinterpreted the ordinance, but Lanker, he said, told him to "tell it to the judge," which he did and paid the city the usual $1 and costs, following the example of others who had preceded him in court on the same charge.

Several hours after having been fined, he saw Lanker overrun the sign, and filed the affidavit which resulted in the chief's arrest.

Lanker appeared in court Wednesday morning armed with two warrants for his arrest after every member of the police department, dubbing him "the city," had refused to serve the papers. He pleaded not guilty, and was released on bond.

It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings the association has held this year and a large number of members attended.

No such applications have been filed, they say, but it is explained that the Pennsylvania Co. has arranged, or is arranging, to have the Lima Truck & Storage Co. under contract, transport freight in less than car lots between Lima and Van Wert, and the Brown Trucking Co. of 27 Wayne perform a similar service between that city and Van Wert. It is estimated that the Pennsylvania Co. is making this move so that more local trains can be discontinued.

It is understood the railroad company is entering into similar contracts with other trucking companies all along its main line from Pittsburg to Chicago.

Skat is back from an extended vacation, and of course he hasn't again accustomed himself to his arduous duties. He was jostled by the crowd and escaped with a few bruises. Later in the day he returned to the office with the announcement that showers are due Saturday night and Sunday, with cooler weather Sunday. Skat says the showers will be intermittent, but not sufficiently heavy enough to prevent the baseball game Sunday afternoon at Murphy-st. park.

The forward wall of the Delphos team was unable to hold and St. Marys also made use of long end runs for their constant gains.

MONEY DEMANDED

Perin apparently went directly to the Rawson home which is located in Clifton, an exclusive suburb. Mrs. Rawson, and her two daughters were sitting in the dining room talking and reading when he entered. Without any parley he demanded money. Mrs. Rawson refused, according to Miss Nina, and Perin asserted he would start a scandal. Miss Rawson said she accused her mother and sister of attempting to make his wife a "slave to a bunch of bum college students."

Without another word Miss Rawson told the police he fired a shot at her which lodged in her neck and then turned the gun on her mother who was shot in the chest. The third bullet he sent thru Miss Rawson's shoulder. Her sister Josephine meanwhile had fled thru the house and out of the back door. Perin followed immediately and ran in the opposite direction. Josephine was located at the home of a relative in a hysterical condition.

The man held in Bellefontaine was taken off a train there last night. He said he was an automobile mechanic and registered as Nick Davelle. Bellefontaine police said that when arrested he was carrying a revolver.

The automobile party while enroute to Wapakoneta was forced from the road by an unknown driver who failed to stop after the accident. The auto overturned and caught fire. It was a total loss.

Lima Autoists Attack Local Safety Island

Police are convinced that Lima automobile drivers have united and declared war on the "safety island" zone system of handling street car traffic. They are thinking of stationing an officer at Main and Market-sts whose sole duty it will be to direct traffic away from the concrete platform there.

Four automobiles crashed into the platform Friday night, with the result that one of the concrete pieces was broken off and the concrete was chipped off in several places.

At 8 p. m. Officer Edwards reported the first attack at police headquarters. His report read that the post was broken off by an unknown motorist. At 7 p. m. another "buckaroo" crashed into the lantern which had been placed on the platform and ran over the island, adding to the damage.

At 7:30 p. m. another light was destroyed, and at 8 p. m. S. F. South, 123 W. Haller-st., ran into what he thought was an obstruction, but proved to be the unlighted safety island.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: I am a girl of 17 and two years ago met the man of my dreams. He was 21. It was a case of love at first sight. As he lived only two houses from us we spent many evenings together. He often told me that he loved me, but for some reason I couldn't believe it. In April he left to be gone for a year, but came back in two months. He still comes to see me and tells me that he is willing to wait until I am ready to marry him. I know that I love him because whenever I see him my heart beats so rapidly and I feel as happy as the whole world was mine.

He is a man whom all girls fall for and he goes with other girls. He tells me that they mean nothing in his life. He is planning to leave again and wants me to marry him and go along. My parents consent as they consider him the sort of man I should marry, but I also have my opinion.

I think that you are quite too young to marry. Why does he go with other girls if they don't mean anything? Of course if you both feel that you really love one another, then marry. But it seems to me that it would be a wise thing for you to wait a bit longer. Just to see if he can devote his time and attention to you alone for if he won't now he may not after the marriage, you know.

Dear Miss Smart

I would be very glad for you to answer a few questions for me. I am 17 years old and you tell me a few places to try to get work for this winter, that is, after I secure a working man. How much should I weigh? How tall should I be? How much should I weigh? How tall should I be?

BRIGHT EYES

I can only suggest you watching the want ads in The Lima News or rubbing a small ad yourself in the paper. What kind of work can you do? Do you type-write? You might speak to your principal or superintendent, perhaps they know of work for you. If you can possibly afford to remain in school, do so. You will not regret staying in high school as long as possible. I can assure you. Perhaps you could work part-time, thereby not giving up your entire school work.

You should be five feet, one inch tall and weigh 118-pounds. The weight of a person of that age depends upon the height.

Modern Methods Sell an Antiquated Article

Mr. F. Murray, 318 Latham Ave., had a horse and wagon for sale a short time ago. The selling of a horse and wagon would not have been difficult at one time; he simply could have driven down to the courthouse, hung a sign on his outfit, and smoked his pipe until a buyer came along. But in this age of automotive vehicles the selling problem was more difficult.

He chose the best method, however, and his search for a buyer ended on the second day. This Lima News Want Ad did the work:

HORSE, WAGON AND HARNESS cheap. 318 Latham-av.

"There were more than five replies," Mrs. Murray stated. "The outfit was easily sold before our Want Ad expired."

Entrancing Perfumes

In mysterious Tibet, the rulers forbid the killing of the deer from which musk is taken. Tibet is a long way from here, but this ban will have its effects locally. For musk is used in the manufacture of high-grade perfumes almost without exception.

Trading has ended national isolation, for us and for all other countries. A hunting law in Tibet, an earthquake killing Japanese silkworms, a Brazilian revolt interfering with the coffee supply . . . and the list is endless. Nothing of importance can happen in any part of the world without affecting all other parts.

Tibet, like China, practices drastic penalties. Hunters who defy the ban and kill musk deer will have their hands chopped off and nailed to the doors of temples.

They will not need many game wardens. Perfumery is probably the oldest of woman's artificial lures. The cave girl decorated her hair with sweet-smelling jungle blossoms. Crafty orientals figured out how to extract the powerful scent. They started the perfumery industry.

Perfumes have reached their highest development in the orient, where water is usually too scarce for frequent bathing. It was a problem of inventing perfumery or gas masks, to enable filthy people to get within speaking distance of each other—and perfumes won.

The first perfumes, after musk, were frankincense, myrrh and other dried gums obtained from trees in India and Africa. The trading of these scents was one of the earliest forms of commerce. Perfumes and jewels and witchcraft tokens were transported by camel caravans over long and stifling deserts and in primitive frail boats over the stormy seas.

As transportation was developed, the traders began to carry other wares. But perfumery was one of the first, and the history of this industry abounds with romantic adventure.

Today the industry is "scientific"—correspondingly dull. Last year, for instance, 11 million pounds of rose petals were taken out of the Valley of Ictos in Bulgaria—and this stupendous amount yielded only 470 ounces of oil of roses. An ounce of oil of roses, of course, makes a vast quantity of perfumery.

Success Chances

Only one song in a thousand makes a hit and brings big profits to the publishers and writer, says E. C. Mills. He's chairman of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

Many will be surprised that so few songs go over big. And yet the situation is no different than in other lines of work. For every one who succeeds, a thousand or more fail outright or at best never reach more than very mild success.

Success is the exception, failure the rule. More profitable to study failures and try to figure why they failed, than to analyze the careers of the rich and famous. What not to do is quite as important as what to do.

Progress

There's only one auto for every 36,800 people in China. The cause is cheap human labor—so cheap that machinery cannot compete with it as yet.

At that, the China is only about 20 years behind America in the matter of autos. She is the greatest undeveloped trade market in the world. You'll probably live to see the time when more American goods will be sold in China than all Europe combined. An advantage is that the Chinese pay for what they get.

Trade Balance

In the 12 months ended June 30, exports from our country increased nearly 355 million dollars compared with the preceding 12 months. And imports similarly were reduced by almost 224 million dollars.

Total exports exceeded imports by 755 million dollars. That's a nice snug little balance. It delights people who don't believe that imports must exceed exports if we're ever to get back the war loans we made to Europe.

Dancing

Dancing is more a matter of the soul than of the feet, claims a speaker at the convention of dance teachers. Many will actually agree with him.

It's difficult to associate dancing with the spiritual. The appeal of the dance is entirely emotional. Is the soul emotional or intellectual?

Our Ills

Hipneck was broken two months without knowing it. Then James Scott, farmer, walked into a hospital in Grand Rapids, Mich., to learn why he had such peculiar pains.

If he had known the truth during those two months, he'd probably have died of fright. Maladies are not imaginary, but imagination can make them worse than they really are.

5-Cent Coffee

That pleasant institution, the 5-cent cup of coffee, will soon be only a memory. This sad news is conveyed by a speaker at the restaurant owners' national convention. It will depend on whether competitors will come forward with coffee at 5-a-mug when restaurants hike the price.

Coffee is the king pin of the eating-house business. One large chain of restaurants built up its trade largely by reason of the excellence of its coffee.

A good cup of coffee, coming at the close of a meal, takes the curse off a lot of poor cooking that has gone before. And if the coffee hasn't that indescribable flavor for which Americans are so keen, the whole meal is apt to become a regret rather than a pleasant memory regardless of the tastiness of the food.

That a cup of good coffee should be served for 5 cents is something the average American considers part of his heritage, not to mention that it is an institution of democracy. To charge him more is tempting fate. It's like taking the baby's rattle away, or trying to wrest peanuts from the elephant's trunk.

Still, a lot of other famous 5-cent institutions have practically passed—including a big serving of pie, the nickel cigar and the ice cream soda.

That revolt in Brazil may interfere with our coffee supply later. An aggravating complication is that the coffee crop this season is below last year's. As to how much, estimates range as high as a million and a half bags.

Americans use more coffee than any other people—over 200 millions dollars worth a year, in the raw state, wholesale price.

We're now consuming over 13 pounds of coffee a year for every man, woman and child. This is two pounds more than in 1923.

Prohibition is responsible for this increased drinking of coffee. People are getting from coffee a part of the stimulant they formerly secured from a bottle with a revenue stamp pasted over the cork.

The presidential candidates overlooked a good bet by not championing the 5-cent cup of coffee in their political platforms.

Cowardice

A few Kentuckians are being arrested under the new state law against slander and malicious gossip.

If there were a national law and strictly enforced, nearly all of us would be in jail within 24 hours.

Of the many forms of cowardice, the foremost is saying behind a person's back what one wouldn't dare say to his face. Be a decent fellow, is a good slogan. Spike slanderous rumor. If it reaches you, let it go no farther.

Trade War

European iron and steel makers, forming an "alliance," will include Germany. So runs the rumor reaching our steel makers from abroad.

There is no trouble burying axes and getting nations united in Europe when profits are at stake. And bankers and business men, working behind the scenes, now have charge of Europe, after giving the politicians several years of grandstand playing and no results.

The steel alliance abroad is for the purpose of presenting a common front against American steel in the world markets. The predicted trade war gets under way.

World Agreements

A political United States of the World is a long way off. But a similar union, industrially, is in the making. Gentlemen's agreements, so-called, and undisguised international business alliances, are increasingly common.

Steel has become a world figure, with alliances and understandings, no longer isolated by countries. So has oil. And money—banking—has been internationalized for years.

Borrower

Big bankers say 400 million dollars worth of European securities will be floated in America the last four months this year.

We trust that the loans represented by these securities will be paid back to Americans faster than the war loans.

WASHINGTON IS UPSET WHEN NATS LOSE TO RED SOX

Football Season Proudly Rides Into Its Own, Welcomed By Thousands Everywhere

BOSTON TEA PARTY MIXES THINGS BADLY

NEW YORK — Washington, official and otherwise, is set today following a social affair not exactly on the program of welcome for returning baseball heroes—a Boston party with the Red Sox acting as hosts to the Senators.

JOHNSON NOT INJURED BADLY

BOSTON—The Red Sox, hoping almost to a man that Washington wins the American League pennant, beat back the Senators' effort to clinch the championship yesterday and prepared to upset them again today.

The spectacle of a team striving to win games from a club that is its favorite for league leadership is being watched by crowds that are equally partial to the Senators and yesterday Fenway Park saw for the first time a home crowd rising in the seventh inning for a victory instead of dedicating the gesture of "fall up" in that inning to the home team.

Washington will make its fight for the championship in the three remaining games of the season against the Red Sox in this city under these conditions.

The injury to Walter Johnson, whose pitching feat of 13 consecutive victories was broken by Boston's 2 to 1 success yesterday, was said today to be more painful than serious, and it is possible he will pitch Monday or Tuesday if the Senators need his efforts to tie up the title. He was struck on the left elbow by a pitched ball. There is little or no doubt that he will be at his best for world's series participation.

Johnson, dowager mentor of the leaders of the American league, staggered off the field after being hit on the elbow by a high ball served by Pitcher Ferguson of the Red Sox. It was Johnson's first defeat after winning 13 straight games.

The Senators politely responded by presenting the game to their hosts, 2 to 1. The Yankees mightily defeated Philadelphia, 7 to 1, and heightened the complexion of Miss Pennant Race.

The American League to a point where the Senators now in New York by only one game.

The leaders were further handicapped by the injury to Johnson, who may not be able to take his place again in the box in any of the three games remaining to be played.

As a result Manager Harris has placed a ban on further social affairs and issued orders to his men to apply themselves to the serious business of trying to win the pennant.

The Giants and Robins rested yesterday but will resume their play today.

Pittsburgh awoke savagely in its insomnia at the Polo grounds and took two games.

Cheering words were heard from the stands.

Washington, pitching ace of the American League, today pitched a grand series of hits from the injury to his left arm received in yesterday's game.

There is no doubt that the Senators will win the pennant.

The Cubs by scores of 9 to 10 and 10 to 6. No other games were played in the National League.

The White Sox beat the White Sox, 2 to 1, in the other American League contest.

NEW YORK—(United Press) — Down behind the speeding Washington Senators and with three to go, the New York Yankees are almost back in the pennant race.

While their chances are not any promising they are improved by the loss of the Yankees.

While Alex. Fergusson, a Yankee off, was holding the Senators off and giving the Red Sox a 1 to 0 victory the Yankees were being displayed to greater advantage recently in Detroit.

The Athletics 7 to 1 closed up the gap by one full game.

Dugan was hurt but his loss is not fatal because Mike Dugan can play the bag for a days almost as well as Dugan.

With a lead of only one game, the Senators now have to win their remaining games to clinch the American League pennant.

The outstanding teams have three games to play. If the Senators win all their remaining games the Yankees are not beat.

Philadelphia the pennant to Washington by one full game.

The Senators lose one more in Boston and the Yankees are more the two teams will tie it off in three extra games.

The Senators lose two more to the Red Sox and the Yankees win from the Athletics.

New Yorkers will take the pennant. The Yankees haven't lost a game since they were pitched by the Philadelphia pitching and while they may not be too good on the field staff there are some that cause trouble. The Yankees to their ace, Herb Pennock yesterday and he is not strong to come back for another game.

Johnson also wasted Walter Johnson in the first game of the season with the Red Sox. The old veteran was dumped by the Red Sox and he was hit on the elbow pitched ball and it was obvious that he was thrown off.

A day of rest the National rivals will get back at it.

Giants start a three-game series with the floundering Philadelphia Robins have a two-game series with the Boston Braves.

Giants can clinch the pennant by winning two of their remaining three games.

It is likely that they will win the pennant.

BASEBALL CRAMMED FULL OF UNCERTAINTIES

Baseball is crammed full of uncertainties.

Baseball is crammed full of uncertainties. Three years ago Stanley Harris was merely the second baseman of the Washington Nationals.

"Donie" Bush played utility roles for the same team. Managerial aspirations were far removed from both Harris and Bush.

Then, for reasons that have never been divulged, Bush, who had been figured a success, was released. To succeed him, Griffith named Stanley Harris, his youthful second sacker, still in his twenties.

The appointment of Harris caused as big a sensation as the selection of Bush. Most of the players looked for Peckinpaugh to get the job.

Some figured that the sudden change of club might ruin the play of one of the game's leading second sacker.

Big things have happened in three years for both Harris and Bush.

Harris' showing great success at Washington. The great showing of his team stimulated new interest in the American League race.

Bush, deposited at Washington, was made manager of the Indianapolis team of the American Association.

During the winter the air was filled with rumors. Griffith admitted dicker with Chicago for Eddie Collins. The White Sox insisted on getting Stanley Harris in the trade, so there was nothing doing.

M'LAUGHLIN IS GOLF CHAMP OF SHAWNEE

T. D. McLaughlin is the "golf champ" of Shawnee Country club. He earned his laurels Friday morning and afternoon in a grueling and exciting game against his brother, Warren McLaughlin.

With the honor of being the 1924 champion goes the "president's cup," to be held for one year until the outcome of the 1925 elimination tourney.

T. D. McLaughlin won in 36 holes with 5 up and 4 to go, after having a lead from the morning round of 18 holes, during which round his brother fell from his usual consistent game, while the winner went the course in 79, or nearly par, which is exceptionally good golf, as the Shawnee Country club course is considered a difficult course to play in.

The gap from the morning round was drawn during the afternoon session with a large following of spectators present while the two brothers in friendly conflict forgot brotherly relations and played in pure love of the game for the honors of the year.

Drives were executed by both with delicate precision that were nearly perfect, the leader, Warren McLaughlin, having the best of the afternoon round, and had not the handicap of the morning session been too great he would probably have beaten his brother instead of forcing him to the limit to win.

Both players were exceptionally good on drives, playing consistent games with no spectacular playing at any one hole. It was a question of good golf with play between the two almost on a par so that the loser gains almost as much credit for his loss as the winner for his victory.

BULGING BARRIER WILL BE SPRUNG TODAY

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — The football season proudly rode into its own today and joyfully was welcomed by thousands of Ohioans who themselves rode, trudged and wended their way expectantly toward stadiums and playing fields where they had opportunity to witness their favorite eleven in competitive action for the first time in nearly a year.

Four of the squads that trotted on the fields today engaged in conference games that have a bearing in determining who will ride off the same gridirons at the end of the season hailed as the champion of the mole skin hosts among Ohio colleges.

These schools included Hiram which met Oberlin at Oberlin and Muskingum which went to Cleveland to battle with Case.

Six Ohio eleven open their season by meeting opponents from outside the state. These games include Thiel which journeyed to Baldwin-Wallace; Georgetown (Ky.) which opened at Miami; Slippery Rock Normal (Pa.) at Mt. Union, and only Ohio squad to play outside the state this week end tackled the strong Carnegie Tech. machine at Pittsburgh.

The University of Cincinnati opens its season as it did last year, playing a night game with Kentucky Wesleyan.

Other games scheduled include Ashland at Wooster, Rio Grande at Ohio, Urbana at Wilmington and Capital at Ohio Wesleyan.

Prominent teams which are idle this week-end, include Ohio States, Denison, Kenyon, Akron and Ohio Northern.

SWING INTO ACTION NEW YORK — The bulging barrier which has been keeping intercollegiate and interscholastic football into the background for the past month will be sprung today.

More than 300 teams, representing virtually every college and university from coast to coast and Canada to Mexico will swing into action with few exceptions.

These exceptions include the proverbial "Big Three," Yale, Harvard and Princeton, which will defer their inaugural games for a week.

Most of the other leading teams in the east, south and west, will open the seasons with traditional first game rivals. The leading teams in the Western Conference have also elected to lay off for one more week before starting but the rank and file of college teams in all sections of the country are scheduled to pry the lid today.

Cornell, considered by many to be on a par with Yale in 1923, will open with its usual game with St. Bonaventure. Syracuse will emulate its 1923 opening against Hobart again this year, while Pennsylvania will oppose Ursinus and Columbia will meet Haverford.

Dartmouth will entertain Norwich at Hanover. Penn State will meet Lebanon Valley at State College and Boston College will meet Providence in other day's headlines.

In the west the most important game on the horizon appears to be the Wabash-Purdue contest while in the south Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado will hook up with Oglethorpe. Many other contests are scheduled for today which will bring together ancient opening game rivals.

DAUBERT MAY RESIGN READING, Pa. — Jack Daubert, veteran Cincinnati first baseman, may become manager of the local team of the International league thru resignation of Spencer Abbott.

EPINARD STARTS AT AQUEDUCT

NEW YORK—(By United Press) — Seven of the best thoroughbreds in training will go to the post at the Aqueduct race track this afternoon in the $25,000 international one mile race.

Weather conditions were ideal this morning and the track was fast.

Epinaud, the French four-year-old and the champion of 1923 rode the favorite in the betting today. The fine race of the French colt in the first international match at Belmont Park on Labor Day and his impressive work in training, have attracted a great following for him.

The field drawn against the invader includes Harry Sinclair's Zev, the international champion of 1923; Admiral Grayson's My Own, August Belmont's Larkin, another popular choice; P. A. Burton's Wise Counselor; I. B. Humphrey's Little Chief and Mrs. Payne Whitney's Rialto. Everett Haines, the former American jockey who came back from France to ride Epinaud will have the mount this afternoon. Clarence Kummer will ride Larkin. Laverne Fator will have the leg up on Zev and O'Donnell will be on Wise Counselor's back. The field is expected to go to the post about 4 o'clock eastern daylight time.

CAIRIES TOP WEIGHT NEW YORK—(By Associated Press)—Six of the leading thoroughbreds in America will match strides with Pierre Wertheimer's Epinaud at Aqueduct track today in the second of a series of three international races in which the French champion will compete in this country.

Epinaud will go to the post burdened under the top weight of 126 pounds together with Zev, My Own, Rialto and Little Chief, with Frederick A. Burton's Wise Counselor, winner of the first international special at Belmont Park on Labor Day, and August Belmont's Larkin carrying 119 pounds.

Today's race of one mile has an added money value of $25,000. The event, the fourth on an all star program is scheduled for 3:50 o'clock eastern daylight time.
